Cultural Capital in PSHECC

Cultural capital is defined as the accumulation of knowledge, behaviours (moods), and skills that a student can draw upon and which demonstrates their cultural awareness, knowledge and competence; it is one of the key ingredients a student will draw upon to be successful in society, their career and the world of work.

At Baginton Fields school we enhance students' experiences and learning by utilising different opportunities in our PSHECC curriculum and around the school and within our wider community.

Cultural capital in PSHECC enables the students to be healthy and independent young people. It helps to prepare them to be confident members of the wider society. It will navigate them through their school life by exposing them to a variety of opportunities and experiences. Cultural capital encourages the children to dream and achieve their goals. Children have the opportunities to meet different people who can inspire and be a role model to them.

Within this, we also demonstrate and encourage our school values, ethos and responsibilities through assemblies and class, whole-school or community projects.
